8 DECLARATION

I hereby declare that the above particulars and answers are correct and complete to the best of my knowledge and belief.

For private individuals (an individual buying insurance wholly or mainly for purposes unrelated to their trade, business or profession), you must advise us immediately of any matter which may affect our assessment of your insurance or if at any time any of the information on which this insurance is based is incorrect or changes. For example changes in condition, value, mooring, attempts to sell or usage of the insured property or anyone covered by this insurance is convicted of an offence. Failure to disclose fully and truthfully all relevant information may invalidate this insurance. If you are in doubt about any change, you should disclose them. You should keep a record of all information supplied to us for the purposes of entering into this contract. In the event of insurance being effected, it is important to consider this form in conjunction with the conditions of the policy as the latter may contain exclusions, warranties or provisions, which override anything, stated on this form.

For commercial clients, or those buying insurance mainly for purposes related to their trade, business or profession, you must disclose all material facts (ie. facts which an insurer would regard as likely to influence acceptance and assessment of the proposal) as failure to do so may invalidate the insurance. If you are in doubt as to whether facts are material, you should disclose them. In the event of insurance being effected, it is important to consider this form in conjunction with the conditions of the policy as the latter may contain exclusions, warranties or provisions, which override anything, stated on this form.

NOTES

1 HULL & MACHINERY

This section should include the hull, engines, machinery, equipment, spars, sails and rigging such as would normally be sold with the vessel if she changed hands. The price paid for the vessel should exclude monies spent on improvements, full details of such expenditure should be disclosed if this is to be taken into account. Generally, if the value to be insured is greater than the price paid a valuation report will be required to justify the difference. Note some policies may be subject to an 'Average' clause and it is essential your vessel is not under insured.

2 TRAILERS

Generally policies state that the trailer must be fitted with a wheel clamp, ball hitch lock or both and fitted when not actually being towed. In addition the policy may require the trailer and vessel is kept off the main road or even out of sight of the main road. Claims in respect of scratching and bruising are generally excluded.

3 PERSONAL EFFECTS

Refers to all items 'Personal' to the assured and used in connection with the vessel. This includes items such as clothing and equipment normally kept on board and that would not be sold with the vessel. Any item valued in excess of £250 should be separately declared.

4 SURVEYS

A recent survey report ie. not older than one year at time of inception may be required by underwriters before cover is granted. This should be accompanied by a recent colour photograph, and the survey report should also contain a valuation report. Underwriters reserve the right to decline insurance cover or to restrict this until all recommendations, especially those relating to seaworthiness, made by the surveyors have been completed.

5 RACING RISKS

The vessel is generally deemed to be racing if competing for a place or a trophy regardless of whether an entry fee has been paid. The extension covers the replacement cost of the mast, spars, sails and rigging whilst racing. The sum insured should be the full replacement cost, in the event of a claim an automatic deduction of one third will generally be applied with certain exceptions. Racing is a material fact and full disclosure must be made regardless of whether this extension of cover is required.

6 SINGLE-HANDED SAILING

Generally single handed sailing extensions are granted for daylight hours only and are dependent on size and type of vessel insured. It may be possible in certain circumstances to allow single-handed sailing at night but this will be at underwriter's discretion.

7 THIRD PARTY INDEMNITY

Third party indemnity is normally covered up to the value of the insured vessel, generally indemnity limits of either £2 or £3m are included as standard on most yacht insurance policies. A higher limit can be provided at an additional premium.

8 EXCESS

The policy will be subject to an excess which will be shown on the quotation. For example an excess of £250 means that you bear the first £250 of each claim. A discount from the premium may be available if a higher excess is required.

9 OPTIONAL ADDITIONAL COVERS

a. Marine Legal Protection

This insurance protects your legal rights and provides a legal advice service through insurers. If necessary a lawyer will be appointed to represent you in situations covered by legal expense insurance up to a maximum sum insured of legal fees of £150,000. The cover is available for an additional premium of £17.60 but is restricted for risks with a commercial involvement i.e. charter use.
